

Provisions of Controversial Trade Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here are the main provisions of the trade bill passed by the House Thursday.

—Limit imports of textiles and footwear to 1967-69 levels, which trade sources say amounts to a one-third cut in some cases.

—Freeze into law the present system of oil import quotas, which at present operate under executive order that dates to President Dwight D. Eisenhower's administration.

—Set tariff-rate quotas on mink furskins and some chemicals.

—Set up a formula under which tariffs or quotas could be imposed on foreign products that are shown to injure American markets.

—Give a tax break to U.S. exporters who expand their business.

Witness Says He Saw No Killing

PT. BENNING, Ga. (AP) — Sgt. Leo M. Maroney, a mortar platoon sergeant during the assault on My Lai, says Capt. Ernest Medina ordered a group of his men to destroy crops and buildings at the Vietnamese village.

The 38-year-old sergeant's testimony Thursday in the third day of the court-martial of Lt. William L. Calley Jr., was the first suggestion of a search and destroy mission.

Maroney said his orders were specifically for the destruction of crops and buildings.

Defense counsel for Calley, charged with the murder of 102 unarmed Vietnamese civilians, are expected to argue that any massacre at My Lai was the result of orders from the lieutenant's superior officers.

Medina, commander of Company C, 1st Battalion, 20th Infantry of the Americal Division, was Calley's superior officer during the assault March 16, 1968.

Under cross-examination by George W. Latimer, Calley's civilian attorney, Maroney said he saw one Vietnamese killed "but I don't know who killed him."

Maroney also corroborated the testimony of several other witnesses who said they saw about 15 or 20 Vietnamese bodies lying on a trail near the village.

Earlier, John Paul, a former radio man for Medina, testified that he saw the captain pump two bullets into a Vietnamese woman because he thought she had a grenade.

tar and ground assault on militia forces six miles northwest of Pleiku City in the central highlands. In a two-hour battle this morning, South Vietnamese headquarters said, 34 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong were killed; field reports said six militiamen were wounded.

In Cambodia, North Vietnamese-Viet Cong harassing attacks were reported to the north, south and east of Phnom Penh, one six miles away.

The heaviest fighting occurred close to Prek Taten, on the east bank of the Bassac River about 12 miles southeast of the capital. Cambodian forces claimed five of the enemy killed in an eight-hour fight and reported two Cambodians killed.

On the Cambodian government's embattled northern front, harassing North Vietnamese fire closed the airport at Kompong Cham, 47 miles northeast of Phnom Penh.

South Vietnamese forces sweeping for the fifth day through North Vietnamese territory in the northeast corner of Cambodia still reported only light contact, but said they had turned up more munitions stockpiles, including 500 shells for recoilless rifles.

but no injury was reported.

The property damage in Northwest Arkansas was extensive, but there was no serious personal injury.

Several homes in a trailer park near Siloam Springs were moved about and the roofs were blown off four houses.

The tornado then touched down four miles northeast of Lincoln, destroying one house and several farm buildings.

The twister also reportedly hit south of Tontitown, destroying two 300-foot chicken layer houses that were full of chickens.

Seven buildings were reportedly damaged by high winds at DeValls Bluff.

Much of the state was placed under a tornado watch during the evening, but an all-clear was issued about 8:20 p.m. as the storms moved eastward out of the state.

TRADE BILL

Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., and Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., have hinted they will filibuster if necessary to prevent a similar trade package from even being considered there.

Opponents concentrated their attack, during two days of debate, on predictions the quotas would bring trade-war retaliation from the countries affected—particularly Japan and the European Common Market—and would drive up U.S. prices by protecting American goods from cheaper foreign competitors.

But Ways and Means Chairman Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., the bill's floor manager, said the mandatory quotas would reverse a decline in U.S. textile and shoe industry jobs and force foreign competitors to negotiate voluntary import curbs.

"The Japanese would rather have the textile market they can get in the United States than retaliate," he said.

Meanwhile Thursday in London, European businessmen voiced growing opposition to the bill.

The bill's textile and shoe quotas are the first since the Smoot-Hawley Act of 1930, which brought broad restrictions against foreign goods. The new bill would cut imports next year to 1967-69 levels, which trade sources say in some cases would amount to a one-third decrease.

Newspaper in 151st Year

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Gazette, the oldest newspaper west of the Mississippi River, is 151 years old today.

The first issue of the newspaper was published Nov. 20, 1819 by William E. Woodruff on a hand press that he had brought to the Territory of Arkansas.

AM&N DEFICIT (From Page One)

Auditing Committee, which also heard further information about transactions involving college funds and a number of officials and students at AM&N.

Auditors previously had discovered a shortage of $92,073.10 in cash funds at the college. The sum includes a shortage of $1,151.19 for the fiscal year ended last June 30 and $90,921.92 for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1969.

The head cashier at AM&N during the period in which the shortages occurred was Richard S. Anderson, who held the position from November 1958 to July 1969, when he was relieved of his duties.

The report said that auditors had been unable to locate records of the college's cash receipts for June 1969.

Last July 21, however, Anderson gave a member of the audit team a signed statement saying that the records for that month had been stolen from his home.

The report said that numerous checks payable to students had been endorsed with the signature resembling the signature Anderson put on the statement, which asserted the theft of cash receipt records for June 1969. Auditors said in the report that Anderson conceded that he had endorsed the checks made out to students.

On some of the checks, a bank account was indicated by number and this account turned out to be Anderson's personal account, the report said.

On statutory authority, auditors obtained from the bank the records of activity in Anderson's personal account for the last 14 months of his tenure as head cashier and the first month after his employment was terminated, a period from June 1, 1968 through Aug. 31, 1969.

During that time, Anderson's net income from the college was about $8,000 but deposits to his personal account exceeded $44,000 the report said.

Auditors said that during that same time, Anderson made many thousands of dollars in purchases and also processed checks to several other college employees.

One recipient of money from Anderson's personal account was Ronald L. Davis, son of Dr. Lawrence A. Davis, president of AM&N, the report said.

The report said the younger Davis received $908 from the account while attending State College of Arkansas. He received a total of $1,333 from Anderson's personal account, the report showed.

The wife of the younger Davis also received from Anderson's personal account $671 while living with her husband on the SCA campus at Conway, auditors said.

The report also said that Ronald L. Davis, now a counselor for the Pine Bluff School District, owes $1,680 to AM&N Homes Inc., a college-owned housing area.

No checkout audit was made at the time of Anderson's termination because auditors were not advised then that his employment had been ended by the college.

Auditors learned of the termination last July, a year after the event, and also discovered that as recently as last August, Anderson was still being paid from state funds appropriated for the college, although he apparently performed no duties for the college. On auditors' recommendations, he was dropped from the college payroll two months ago.

Bank records on the activity of Anderson's personal account showed that his transactions included purchases involving these amounts:

—$4,500 as down payment on a house in Pine Bluff.

—$6,321.16 as payment for house furniture.

—$1,135.66 as payment for a fence around the house.

—$3,000 as down payment on a 1968 Lincoln automobile.

—$1,000 as down payment on a 1968 Chevrolet sports automobile.

—$2,000 as down payment on a 1968 Mercury Cougar automobile.

—$500 as down payment on a house in Memphis.

The report said a loan for $3,700 owed on the Lincoln was financed 36 months, but Anderson paid it off in 24. In one month, four payments were made on the Lincoln and four payments were made in the same month on the Chevrolet.

The report said the review of other checks made out to the names of students appeared to have been endorsed by some other individual.

er damages. Under current law the minimum is $10,000.

Backers of the bill say it would revolutionize consumer protection, bringing legal redress for the first time within the grasp of millions now unable to afford it.

Opponents claim it would clog the federal courts, enrich law firms and lead to harassment of legitimate businesses.

The proposal is scheduled for debate next week unless Republicans can head it off as they managed to do once this week.

Although Republican Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania included the bill in his list of 22 must measures in the current lame duck congressional session, GOP senators scrambled to block debate after Democratic leaders unexpectedly called it up.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts, the assistant Democratic leader, emphasized the priority listing when he proposed to call up the measure.

"The President, so I understand," said Kennedy, "has indicated strong support for this measure, so bringing this matter up now is consistent with trying to expedite the President's priorities."

"I think there is some mistake there," said Sen. Norris Cotton of New Hampshire, ranking Republican on the Commerce Committee.

"I think it is erroneous to suggest that the President is pressing for the passage of this particular bill in its present form," he said. "Although the President wants a class action bill, he would prefer no bill at all to the class action bill in its present form."

ACTIVIST

would provide what they want, too. Miss Fonda made it clear that she was not in the least concerned with the rights of the kind of person who would want to take ROTC.

In urging the students to join in the battle to change society, she said, "Young people today offer an incredible threat to the opponents of change. More and more young people are realizing that American institutions are collapsing and that (the nation's leaders) are trying to disguise the collapse by using students as scapegoats."

To those who urge that students work through the system to change things, she said, "The system is closed to those who are trying to get at the root problems of our country and effect meaningful change."

Student power is very real, she said, adding, "It was the students of America who forced (President) Nixon to set a deadline on his Cambodian adventure."

Miss Fonda praised those soldiers who have resisted fighting in South Vietnam. "It's a new kind of soldier," she said. "They are not John Wayne freaks. They won't want to die. They can find no reason to die."

These soldiers, she said, have forced their officers to make concessions unheard of in any war. She said officers were afraid to make troops cut their hair or stop smoking marijuana because the officers are afraid they will be shot by their own men.

Miss Fonda said that slaying officers was called "fragging" and that Life magazine had written about it.

Immediately after talking about soldiers who "fragg" their officers, she said, "They're good soldiers. We should be very proud of them."

This kind of remark was typical of those which "turned off" the audience, but the rupture of communication generally was temporary and she always managed to get most of the group with her again.

She said she was proposing a socialist economic system which would eliminate the profit motive, create proportional representation in government so that all racial and religious minorities would be represented, remove military and corporate interests from abroad and let the people decide which laws are to be enforced.

Miss Fonda said students should support demands of black students and demand amnesty for prospective draftees who have fled to Canada or Sweden to avoid going to war.

Time and again, she remarked about persecution of blacks and the Black Panthers, and, in another of "turn off" remarks, she said, "Any black man knows that if he is not armed he will be shot down in his sleep. They have a right to be armed in self defense."

Miss Fonda underscored her

Friday, November 20, 1970

discontent with Nixon's Vietnamization policies by saying that troop removal had created a situation where technology was replacing the fighting man in destroying the enemy.

She questioned whether mere removal of troops should be enough to pacify the American conscience. "Some day we may press a button and wipe out an entire country," she said. "We can't afford to let that happen."

Miss Fonda was accompanied by a young black man who identified himself as Al Hubbard, executive secretary of an organization called Vietnam Veterans Against the War. He conducted a recruiting session among university veterans after the speech.

Miss Fonda wore a green sweater and a modish brown pantsuit. Her hair was short and straight and her speech was always strong, often intense.

She took the agonistic questions in good humor, even when one student asked her what her estranged husband, Roger Vadim, thought about her activism.

"Does it matter," she asked. Then she answered her own question, "It doesn't matter at all."

TO EACH HER OWN PAR-SIMONY

Dear Helen: I am steaming! I just got home from a card party where my "friends" made me look like a complete fool by telling everybody how I save and reuse birthday candles and wrapping paper, and a few other things that she thinks is chintzy. So of course everybody laughed and I could have gone through the floor. You see, these women are all "country club," and they looked at me as I were some kind of specimen.

Well, I could have told THEM a few things: This fun-poking female makes her family use the same paper napkins twice, and I've seen her pour half an unused drink into a new glass when she's "mixing" out at the kitchen-bar.

But when I'm furious I can never think of the right put-down. I just sit there and try to smile while I smolder and shake like a volcano inside. Next time we're all together, I'd love to clobber her with these cheap tricks of hers, but Helen, I won't. . . I'll begin to think how mean I'd sound.

Dear TBAC:

You're more "feeling" than feline, that's all. And that isn't bad! The world has too many card-party cats already.

I'll bet those women laughed more with, than at you—for we all have our own pet parsimonious habits, and when we hear about others, we RELATE! What's mine? —Rinsing out the "empty" catsup bottle with vinegar then adding the remains to my salad dressing—which saves maybe half a cent, but makes me feel terribly worthy.

And I know a woman who tears facial tissues in half, and another one who cuts up junk-mail letters to make note pads. Really, all these things are SMART, no matter what your income. —H.

Dear Helen:

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

New York (AP) — Flip Wilson, the disarming comedian whose NBC weekly variety hour is the only solid hit among new shows this season, kept his average high Thursday night, mostly by the addition of Marcel Marceau as his guest.

Wilson's hour opened with his usual monologue—this time a retelling of a fanciful conglomerate of Biblical tales. But the treat of the evening was Marceau, the great French mime, working both in and out of his familiar whitened face.

He first repeated his impressive pantomime of "the mask-maker." Then Marceau showed himself to be a fairly youthful looking man with sideburns and well-tailored clothes as he worked in a couple of talk sketches with Flip. Some of the magic was missing, but it was interesting to see the artist in a familiar context.

"Ironside," which follows on a night that is usually dominated by NBC shows, was off—again—on a narcotics hunt. There was an official request from the White House before the season to hammer away at antidope themes. And more than 25 prime-time programs have used the narcotics traffic, pushers or addicts prominently in plots. But the ingredient could just as well have been fences dealing in stolen goods or forged wills or counterfeit money.

Ironside was a victim this week of an elaborate frame-up, accused of being the well-paid tip-off man for the dope syndicate.

Of course he was cleared in time for the final commercial, but after the frameup, the interest of the viewer was concentrated on how Ironside would get out of his mess and how the villains would be caught.

Hope Lange, star of last season's "The Ghost and Mrs. Muir," has been cast to play Dick Van Dyke's wife in the actor's series to start next September. Mary Tyler Moore, who played his wife in his old series, has spun off to a CBS series of her own.

Dick Cavett, on ABC's late night hot seat for months, will take a couple of weeks off in December. The first few days will be filled with repeats of some of his better interview programs, including one with the late Janis Joplin. Buck Henry, once a performer on "That Was The Week That Was" and now a top film writer, will take over the host's seat from Dec. 8 through 11.

Mediator for Middle East Leaves Area

By TOM HOGE

Associated Press Writer UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The decision of Middle East peace mediator Gunnar V. Jarring to return to his regular post in Moscow came as U.S. officials were expressing hope that Arab-Israeli negotiations might resume in a few weeks.

The American hopes were based mainly on recent statements by Israeli Premier Golda Meir and Defense Minister Moshe Dayan.

Mrs. Meir told her parliament Monday that the U.S. and Israeli governments are looking for a new formula that will permit resumption of the indirect Israeli-Egyptian-Jordanian talks with Jarring as go-between. This indicated a retreat from Israel's insistence that she could not return to the talks until Egypt pulled back the anti-aircraft missiles allegedly moved closer to the Suez Canal since the cease-fire in August.

Other reports from Tel Aviv said Israeli leaders feel that new U.S. planes and other weapons being supplied Israel offset the threat of the missiles. Dayan on Nov. 7 said the Jarring talks were the only means of reaching a settlement and he was "very much in favor" of resuming them.

Jarring, Sweden's ambassador to the Soviet Union, has been marking time at U.N. headquarters since Israel quit the talks on Sept. 6. Along with the announcement that he was going back to Moscow, a spokesman said he would return to U.N. headquarters "within a matter of hours" if the situation required it.

Picks Porks Over Texas Tech 24-10

By HARRY KING
Associated Press Writer

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Frank Broyles spent the noon hour Monday quoting Texas Tech statistics to his Arkansas football team.

He had plenty of material. Tech is second in the Southwest Conference in total defense, rushing offense and pass defense. The Red Raiders also rank third in rushing defense.

Most important, Tech is 5-1 in conference play and has a chance to reach the Cotton Bowl. To do so, the Raiders would have to beat Arkansas at Lubbock Saturday and either Arkansas or Texas A&M would have to upset to-ranked Texas.

Tech is the type of team that attempts to keep mistakes at a minimum. The Raiders don't win impressively, but they win. Tech has won its last four conference games by a total of 19 points.

Tech only passes about 15 times a game, but three of its running backs are among the conference leaders. The leader is Doug McCutchen, a sophomore, who has gained 147, 204 and 155 yards in his last three games.

"They methodically run right at you and make you grab grass," Broyles said. "They've got four good running backs so they can alternate and keep a fresh man in the game."

Tech quarterback Charles Napper runs the triple option extremely well and is an effective passer, completing more than 57 per cent of his attempts.

"Napper is a good drop back passer and a threat on the option," Broyles said. "That's a dangerous combination."

Broyles remembers the 1966 Tech-Arkansas game at Lubbock where an Arkansas victory would have meant a Cotton Bowl trip for the Razorbacks. Instead, Tech won.

Arkansas is a 17-point favorite to make the Raiders their ninth straight victim.

ARKANSAS 24, TEXAS TECH 10.

Arkansas State University, top-ranked in the college division poll, goes for its first unbeaten, untied season in history when the Indians meet Southern Illinois at Jonesboro Saturday afternoon.

The Indians wrapped up their third consecutive Southland Conference title with a methodical 27-7 victory over the University of Texas at Arlington last week.

Tailback Calvin Harrell returned to form last week with 161 yards on 33 carries and has 977 yards in eight games.

ASU will preserve its ranking. ASU 28, SOUTHERN ILLINOIS 17.

Ouachita can tie for the AIC title Saturday with a victory over Henderson, its traditional rival.

OUACHITA 14, HENDERSON 10.

OUACHITA 14, HENDERSON 10.

Last week's percentage was .857.

Here are other predictions involving college teams in Arkansas:

Arkansas Tech 21, Arkansas A&M 20

Southern State 17, Arkansas A&M 7

Harding 14, State College of Arkansas 13

Saturday to Clear Bowl Pictures

By BEN THOMAS

Associated Press Sports Writer

All sorts of post-season invitations will be flying through the air Saturday but two of the games highlighting the day's collegiate action could be dubbed "Revenge Bowls."

Ohio State's Woody Hayes wants revenge and so does Louisiana State's Charlie McClendon.

Fourth-ranked Michigan invades Hayes' lair to play No. 5 Ohio State, which wants retribution for that shocking 24-12 loss to the Wolverines a year ago.

For McClendon and his Bengals from the Bayous, a victory over second-ranked Notre Dame would be in the measure of poetic justice. Charlie Mac and his boys spent last New Year's Day at home after the Irish suddenly abandoned their no-bowl policy and went to the Cotton Bowl.

"I'm trying not to make this game any bigger than it is," McClendon says of his clash with Notre Dame, which he calls "the biggest and most talented team we have ever played."

With No. 1 Texas idle this week, Parseghian knows his Irish must hustle against LSU. "They're absolutely amazing on defense," Parseghian proclaims of the Tigers. "No one has scored a touchdown against them on the ground in 11 games."

The Michigan-Ohio State game is one of the afternoon's two nationally televised (ABC) affairs. The Southern California-UCLA battle, which this year doesn't involve much more than the Los Angeles city championship, follows.

Hayes has had his training area sealed off this week and Columbus resembles a top-secret military base. The game between the two unbeaten Big Ten powers is for the conference championship. Ohio State has already clinched a trip to the Rose Bowl, where its Jan. 1 opponent will be Stanford, but Hayes is aching to beat "that other team," the only way he refers to Michigan.

Third-ranked Nebraska, already tabbed for the Orange Bowl, entertains Oklahoma for the Big Eight championship Saturday.

Only a handful of teams could accept bowl bids prior to this Saturday. Nebraska was one and 10th-ranked Air Force, which opted for the Sugar Bowl, was another. Air Force plays Colorado this week.

Sixth-ranked Arkansas invades No. 19 Texas Tech in a game which could have a bearing on the host role in the Cotton Bowl and where Notre Dame goes.

It's a pretty involved situation. If Texas Tech beats Arkansas and either Arkansas or Texas A&M upset Texas, then Texas Tech would earn the host spot in the Cotton Bowl. If the Red Raiders beat Arkansas this Saturday, then the best guess is that Notre Dame—provided it wins—will take the Orange Bowl bid in preference to a return trip to the Cotton Bowl.

Parseghian has made no bones about wanting to go to the bowl where the ranking is—and that would be the Cotton Bowl for a rematch with Texas if the Longhorns survive their Dec. 5 clash with Arkansas.

The Sugar Bowl, meanwhile, is expected to offer the host's role to No. 8 Tennessee if the Vols get by lowly Kentucky as expected this Saturday.

The Orange Bowl, if snubbed by Notre Dame, has its choice of either Arkansas or LSU, but could turn to either No. 12 Mississippi or No. 13 Auburn. Both the Rebels and the Plainsmen are idle this week and it is expected that the Gator Bowl will invite one or both at sundown Saturday.

Arizona State, No. 9, hosts New Mexico Saturday night in the only after-dark game involving a team in the Top Ten. And in a clash tonight at Anaheim, No. 14 San Diego State plays Long Beach State.

Stanford, No. 11, is at California; No. 15 Toledo hosts Colorado State; No. 16 Dartmouth is at Penn; No. 18 Northwestern is at Michigan State and No. 20 Penn State entertains Pitt in games involving the second ten. Georgia Tech, No. 17, is idle.

And then there is THE game, although neither bowl trips nor national rankings are involved. For the 87th time, Yale and Harvard will slug it out on the gridiron. THE game this year is at Cambridge, Mass. and Yale is a touchdown favorite.

49ers, Green Bay Picked as Winners

By MIKE RATHET

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Back into the ball game after a week's layoff, body rested, mind alert—and ready to predict that the Western Division race in the National Football Conference will be all but wrapped up Sunday by San Francisco's 49ers.

The 49ers, two games ahead of the Los Angeles Rams, meet the tougher opponent in Detroit, while their West Coast neighbors take on Atlanta. But the 49ers will win, the Rams will lose.

Here are this week's picks, all games Sunday unless otherwise noted:

San Francisco 31, Detroit 17

8th 49ers are rolling behind John Brodie, a rebuilt defense and a four-game winning streak. They have never won a division title. But this is the year. The Lions should be down after losing to Minnesota last week.

Atlanta 24, Los Angeles 21—two weeks ago the Rams had to rally to tie the Falcons 10-10 and last week they were blasted by the New York Jets 31-20. The defensive unit is showing signs of its age, and Atlanta should be able to exploit what the Jets showed them.

Minnesota 35, Green Bay 24—the Vikings only loss in nine games was in an early season meeting with the Packers. But it would be difficult to imagine a club as strong as Minnesota losing to any opponent twice.

Oakland 28, San Diego 27—George Blanda may not be able to get the Raiders off the hook a fifth week in succession, but it does figure to be Daryle Lamina's turn to grab a headline in this meeting in the American Conference's tough Western Division.

Kansas City 31, St. Louis 24—the Chiefs' offense may be ready to roll under the guidance of Len Dawson, and the defense is strong enough to shut down the Cardinals' ground-oriented attack revolving around MacArthur Lane.

Washington 34, Dallas 24—both still in Eastern race behind Cardinals and Giants. Redskins, however, are clicking on offense. The Cowboys just aren't clicking.

Baltimore 28, Miami 21—The Dolphins should give the Colts more trouble than they did in a 35-0 loss earlier in the season. But the Baltimore defense is made of sterner stuff than Miami's.

Cleveland 42, Houston 21—The Browns aren't exactly terrorists, but then Wally Lemm's quitting the Oilers for some reason. Even Charley Johnson's return at quarterback hasn't braked the skid.

Cincinnati 27, Pittsburgh 14—how Coach Paul Brown continues to pull off surprises for the Bengals is a constant amazement. But his play calling's been pretty good. It's a good time to stick with him.

Denver 17, New Orleans 10—The Broncos are slipping, but Floyd Little is No. 1 in the American Conference in rushing and should be able to run for daylight against the Saints.

Chicago 31, Buffalo 14—The Bills have a hot passing combination in Dennis Shaw to Marlin Briscoe, but are injury-riddled. The Bears gave Green Bay a tussle last week before succumbing.

New York Jets 34, Boston 10

8th Jets' Al Woodall, Joe Namath's quarterback substitute, apparently has found himself. Joe Kapp still is looking.

MONDAY

New York Giants 37, Philadelphia 20—The Giants have the most versatile back in the NFC—Ron Johnson—and the go fostered by six straight victories. The Eagles haven't won that many even if you count last year.

Toronto 5-1 and St. Louis beat Pittsburgh 1-0 in the NHL's only other games Thursday night.

Bobby Clarke, Serge Berner and Bill Lesuk scored Philadelphia's other goals while Bill Hickey and Gerry Ehman scored for the Seals, who are last in the NHL's West Division.

Montreal jumped over Boston into first place in the East with its bruising victory over last-place Toronto.

Rookie defenseman Brad Selwood was removed from the ice on a stretcher after colliding with Montreal's Serge Savard.

SWC Clears Up Puzzle Saturday

By MICHAEL A. LUTZ

Associated Press Writer

You'll be able to tell more what the Southwest Conference football puzzle looks like Saturday after Texas Tech and Arkansas fit the biggest piece into place in their showdown at Lubbock.

It's a semi-final matchup for the SWC championship that also will determine which teams go to what bowls.

The sixth-ranked Razorbacks are at least two touchdown favorites to quell the Raider uprising and move into a proposed Dec. 6 Big Shootout No. 2 with No. 1 ranked Texas for the SWC title and the Cotton Bowl host berth.

Texas Christian is at Rice and Baylor plays Southern Methodist in the Cotton Bowl in other games Saturday that are of lesser importance to the final SWC picture. Texas and Texas A&M are off this week, making plans for the traditional Thanksgiving Day tussle at Austin.

The Arkansas-Texas Tech game has all the markings of an all-out war—there are plenty of weapons on both sides.

Team-wise, the game will match Arkansas' No. 1 defense against Tech's No. 3 ranked offense and Arkansas' No. 1 offense against the Raiders' No. 2 ranked defense.

There'll be a pair of slick quarterbacks at the controls. Tech's Charles Napper has operated the Raiders Tech Option offense to almost perfection this season. Arkansas signal caller Bill Montgomery has directed the Hogs to a 41.2 average points per game.

Tech will be looking to sophomore flash Doug McCutchen for another outstanding performance. The thundering McCutchen has gained more than 100 yards in each of Tech's last three games. McCutchen leads the SWC in rushing with 506 yards in last three games alone.

"They're the best team we've played this year," said Tech Coach Jim Carlen, "based on their ability to throw the football, on their kicking game and on their rushing game. They're the best balanced team we've played and physically, they're the quickest team we've played."

Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles said of Tech: "The record indicates Tech is a fine football team. They're a complete football team. Their defense is sound and conservative. They don't have any weak spots or somebody would have found them."

Carlen said the Raiders would be pulling all stops to defeat the Razorbacks and remain in the SWC race. But Tech has an ace. The players already have voted to accept a Sun Bowl bid if they should lose a chance at the Cotton.

Tech Already Has Bid to Sun Bowl

By DENNE H. FREEMAN

Associated Press Sports Writer

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) —The sixth-ranked Arkansas Razorbacks meet dangerous Texas Tech Saturday in a Southwest Conference football game that decides among other things whether the Red Raiders go to the Sun Bowl or wait around to wade in high cotton.

"We'd go to the 'Peanut Bowl' if that meant we were the Southwest Conference champions," says Tech coach Jim Carlen.

He says the Red Raiders decided to sign up for the Sun Bowl in case they lose to Arkansas. "To get it out of the players' minds so they can prepare for the Razorbacks."

Asked what he thought about Arkansas, Carlen replied "You tell me where they are weak? they've got the best balanced team in the conference and they have depth."

Both Arkansas and Texas are tied for the SWC lead with 5-0 records.

After an opening 34-28 loss to Stanford, Arkansas has blitzed eight consecutive opponents.

Tech is 8-2 for the season and 5-1 in SWC play.

Quarterback Bill Montgomery of Arkansas figures, "Texas Tech is the best team we've played since Stanford."

"It's going to boil down to a game of mistakes," Montgomery says. "The team that makes the fewest mistakes will win and Tech sure hasn't made many mistakes this season."

Montgomery says, "They're not going to give you the big play."

Arkansas has been making many "big plays" this season, leading the nation in scoring with an average of some 41 points per contest.

If Tech should defeat Arkansas, the Red Raiders would then have to depend on either Arkansas or Texas A&M defeating Texas to share in the SWC title. Of course, Tech would then go to the Cotton Bowl.

Joe Frazier Says Clay Needs Him

By ED SCHUYLER Jr.

Associated Press Sports Writer

DETROIT (AP)—Joe Frazier stood ready today to fight anybody. The public wants it to be Muhammad Ali.

"I'll fight anybody Yank says," Frazier said Thursday about 12 hours after his two-round destruction of light heavyweight champion Bob Foster.

"Man," said the heavyweight champion pointing at a sports writer, "I'll fight you if your name's on the contract."

But the next name on a fight contract, along with Frazier's, most likely will be Ali's. Frazier's manager, Yank Durham, said Wednesday night he'll talk about a fight in about three weeks.

The fight probably will be held in February if Ali beats Oscar Bonavena in New York Dec. 7. The only other block to the fight would be a refusal by the U.S. Supreme Court to hear the appeal of Ali's conviction for refusing induction into the Army.

"He needs me, I don't need him. He's got to come to me," said Frazier while prowling about his hotel suite while Durham slept in a nearby room.

"Let the old man sleep" said Frazier who always is reluctant to talk about fighting.

But he did have a comment on Ali's performance at a closed-circuit telecast in Atlanta of the Frazier-Foster fight. After the fight Ali threw punches at an imaginary opponent and screamed, "I want Joe Frazier."

"That man's crazy," said Frazier. "He's scared. They're always scared when they do a lot of talking. They have to convince themselves they're good. When a man knows he can do the job he doesn't talk about it."

Frazier got a guarantee of $150,000 against 40 per cent of all receipts for his three minutes and 49 seconds of work Wednesday night. A crowd of only 6,300 paid $147,000 at Cobo Arena for the second half of the closed-circuit television doubleheader, which also saw George Foreman stop Boone Kirkman in two rounds in New York. It will be some time before other receipts are known.

But whatever they are they will be peanuts compared to a Frazier-Ali fight. Harold Conrad, a vice president of Sports Action Inc., said the fight could gross $7 million. He said lack of technical equipment would keep it from being a $10 million match.

Probers Told About Player Blacklisting

By CHARLES R. HORNICK
Associated Press Writer

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A special federal grand jury investigating operations of the National Football League was in recess today after hearing testimony about alleged blacklisting of players in the league.

Bernie Parrish, a former member of the Cleveland Browns' defensive backfield, said he told the jury Thursday that he felt he had been blacklisted.

Parrish, now an official of the Teamsters Union in St. Louis, told newsmen that he thought the jury, which is looking for possible antitrust violations, would return some indictments.

Parrish, 34, was followed into the jury room by Walter Beach, a former teammate who also has complained of being blacklisted.

Beach declined to say when questioned by newsmen whether he had made the blacklisting claim during three hours of testimony before the jury.

The 23-member jury, which was impaneled Monday, recessed subject to recall following Beach's testimony.

Parrish was with the Browns from 1959 until he asked for his release after the first game of the 1966 season. He finished that season with the Houston Oilers and then retired from football. He declined to say why he asked for his release from the Browns.

He said he felt that he had been subpoenaed by the grand jury because of "my feeling that I was blacklisted and because of the research I did for my book on the inner workings of the league and the treatment of players." His book has not yet been published.

Browns' President Art Modell accused Parrish of talking "to promote his book" and said the Browns "have not violated any provisions of the antitrust law — nor any other law."

Modell said he had asked for an opportunity to appear before the grand jury at the earliest possible time.

He said the jury questioned him about blacklisting and trade and waiver procedures in the NFL.

The jury apparently is probing into owner-player relations for possible antitrust violations under the Sherman Act, which prohibits restraint of services — in this case the players' services in the alleged blacklisting.

Such violations could bring criminal indictments. Conviction could bring a fine of up to $50,000, a jail sentence of up to one year, or both.

Parrish said he knew of players who had been blacklisted, but declined to give names or say how many.

Beach, in his second year at Yale Law School, was put on waivers by the Browns shortly before the 1967 season started and was not claimed by another team.

Beach declined to say specifically what questions were asked of him, but said he was quizzed about such subjects as blacklisting, racial discrimination and gambling. He would not elaborate.

Complaint of Two Umps Are Dismissed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The complaint of two baseball umpires that they were fired for union activities has been dismissed by a trial examiner for the National Labor Relations Board, it was disclosed Thursday.

Alexander Salerno and William T. Valentine, Jr., former umpires for the American League, claimed they were fired by Joe Cronin, president of the AL, in Sept. 1968 because they tried to get other umpires to join the Major League Umpires Association, Inc. Cronin said they were fired for incompetency.

David S. Davidson, the trial examiner who held a nine-day hearing in Boston, said that the "complaint must be dismissed for failure to establish an essential prerequisite to a finding that the discharges were caused by union activities."

He said that the umpires' counsel failed to establish that the AL had knowledge of the union activities "beyond mere suspicion or surmise."

There was no immediate comment from Salerno or Valentine. They have 20 days to appeal the decision to the full five-man NLRB board.

Never Bow Favored Hialeah

By TED MEIER

Associated Press Sports Writer

Only two horses have won the Widener Handicap in successive years in the 34 years that the famed handicap has been run at Hialeah. Never Bow may become the third in the 1971 running at the Florida track in February.

Never Bow, owned by the Hobeau Farm, won the Widener by four lengths last winter. If he can do it again he will join Armed and Yorky as the only horses to accomplish the feat in consecutive years. Armed did in 1946 and 1947, Yorky in 1961 and 1962.

A line on whether Never Bow will turn the trick may be provided by his showing in the $50,000-added Gallant Fox Handicap at Aqueduct Saturday. The 1 1/2 mile test tops the weekend national thoroughbred card.

Never Bow, a 4-year-old son of Never Bend, made an impressive return to racing in winning an allowance last Monday at Aqueduct. He had been idle since July 4.

Off that showing he is expected to be a strong contender in the Gallant Fox in which he carries 116 pounds compared to 122 on the top-weighted Loud.

Other probabilities include Happy Intellectual, Protanto, Ship Leave, Chompton, Dinner Gong, Twogundan and two foreign invaders, Bacuco of Italy and Dance Act of Canada.

Elsewhere on Saturday there is the $30,000 Chicago Today Handicap at Sportsman's Park. The $25,000 Flinlock Stakes at Liberty Bell, the $25,000 Chrysanthemum Handicap at Laurel, the $25,000 Kentucky Jockey Club at Churchill Downs, the $20,000 San Mateo Stakes, which has been split into two divisions, at Bay Meadows, and the $15,000 Alligator Stakes at Tropical Park.

Syracuse Goes Without Black Players

By WILLIAM MORRISSEY

Associated Press Writer

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — The Syracuse University football team, traditionally a powerhouse in the east, plays its last game of 1970 Saturday, closing out a successful season that was wracked with controversy, uncertainty and picketing.

The Orange, playing under coach Ben Schwartzwalder, in his 22nd year at the helm, guaranteed that 1970 would be the 21st year in a row of non-winning football. The team notched its fifth victory of the 10-game schedule in a 31-29 win over Army two weeks ago.

Syracuse, with five wins and four losses, goes against Miami of Florida (2-6) Saturday.

The Army win was the fifth in a row for Syracuse, after it had dropped the first three to Houston, Kansas and Illinois—apparently still feeling the effects of black football players who bolted the team and raised charges of racism against Schwartzwalder, the rest of his coaching staff and the university's athletic department.

The team eventually voted to accept the eight black players back when they were faced with the possibility that the home-opener against Kansas would be cancelled because of threatened mass demonstrations.

Of the eight black players, only four were eligible for reinstatement. They appeared briefly on the practice field one afternoon, took their physicals, but never reappeared to draw equipment.

The eight demanded and got a university investigation into charges of white favoritism for positions, racist remarks aimed at black players, poor medical treatment and bending of academic requirements for whites.

The 12-member committee completed its hearings two weeks ago after talking to about 24 persons, including team members, coaches and other interested parties.

Their report, now being written, is expected to be ready in early December.

Tom Nolan writes from Washington: "Here is a hand for the department of blind luck. Eight of us get together once a week for a friendly IMP team match. I opened the North hand with one spade, whereupon my partner lost no time getting us to seven no-trump. It might be a good try for a win in board-a-match, but it meant nothing at IMPs, since a 10-point win counts as a tie. "West opened the 10 of diamonds and he called for my jack. When the jack held, he thought for a moment and announced, 'Making seven no-trump with six spades, two hearts, three diamonds and two clubs. "Our opponents pointed out that, while five spades opposite five might produce a lot of tricks with spades as trumps, they would only produce five tricks in no-trumps. Then East got into the act and showed his hand, remarking that the heart finesse would yield a 13th trick but that my partner could not finesse, since he had claimed. "My partner looked over the East hand and remarked, 'My claim is still good. There is an automatic squeeze. Only West can guard hearts. No one can guard clubs.' Then he cashed the diamond king, ran off all spades, stopping in dummy, cashed the diamond ace while discarding a club and played the king and ace of hearts. Dummy was left with a club, a low heart and a low diamond. South held ace-king-10 of clubs. West had to go down to two clubs to hold a diamond, while East had to do the same to hold a heart. His clubs were good."

Science Works on Altering Body to Ward Off Disease

By LAWRENCE E. LAMB, M.D.

A new era of medicine is incubating in laboratories around the world. It could spark a medical revolution. In the past, we have used vaccinations to increase the body's immunity or resistance to a specific disease. Then antibiotics provided chemicals that killed or limited the growth of bacteria.

Now scientists are studying ways of altering the body so it won't be as susceptible to disease. One or more of these may cause the body to be resistant to most virus infections. This could mean that the body could become resistant to the innumerable viruses that can cause common colds.

Many of these studies are related to the most fundamental chemical actions of the cells throughout the body. In this regard, they may prove important in curing or preventing cancer.

Interestingly enough, there is some hope that these basic chemical actions may influence the function of the brain in terms of learning, memory and so-called aging. The day hasn't arrived yet! But the trend is clear and the direction is toward improving our knowledge at the cellular level. This could, in time, make many current methods of treatment as obsolete as the ancient houses for smallpox victims.

Medical World News reports that a special strain of Japanese-bred rats failed to populate as all good rats are expected to do. It may have been added to their diet and love bloomed. It is amazing what a little honey can do.

Dear Dr. Lamb—My dad, 61, has bad cramps in his legs at night. He works hard

Defense Dept. Buying Large Amounts Drugs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department is still buying large amounts of an expensive pain-killing drug a government study says often has little or no effect.

The total Defense outlay for various forms of Darvon—the drug's trade name—is more than $5 million.

In the past 11 months the Pentagon has purchased more than $177,000 worth of Darvon 32 and Darvon 65 and has paid some $291,000 for a combination of Darvon and aspirin. Prices range from $1.58 per 100 for Darvon 32 and $12.38 a bottle of 500 for the larger dosage.

In June 1969 the Pentagon paid 73 cents for 1,000 aspirin tablets.

A spokesman for Eli Lilly Co. of Indianapolis, Ind., the manufacturer, defended the drug as effective and said "there have been something like 230 million prescriptions written for Darvon and that's a good-size part of our business."

Investigators for a Senate subcommittee looking into government purchasing practices say Darvon is only one example where the Pentagon has purchased an expensive drug when a cheaper one is as effective or more so and frequently safer.

An investigator said the significance of Darvon, however, is that it is one of the biggest selling drugs in the world.

He said there were many other drugs as well as agencies involved.

In April 1969, a panel of the National Academy of Sciences —National Research Council said Darvon, "in doses of 65 milligrams to 100 milligrams, has usually but not always proved superior to placebo in reasonably sensitive analgesic assays; however, the 32 mg. has often been found indistinguishable from placebo."

A placebo, often called a sugar pill, is usually noted for its psychological rather than medical effect.

The NAS-NRC panel also disputed other claims about Darvon 32.

In its Aug. 10, 1970, edition, the Journal of the American Medical Association said studies showed Darvon "is not superior to codeine or aspirin in terms of analgesic effect."

"It appears," said the article, "that factors other than intrinsic therapeutic value are responsible for the commercial successes" of the drug.

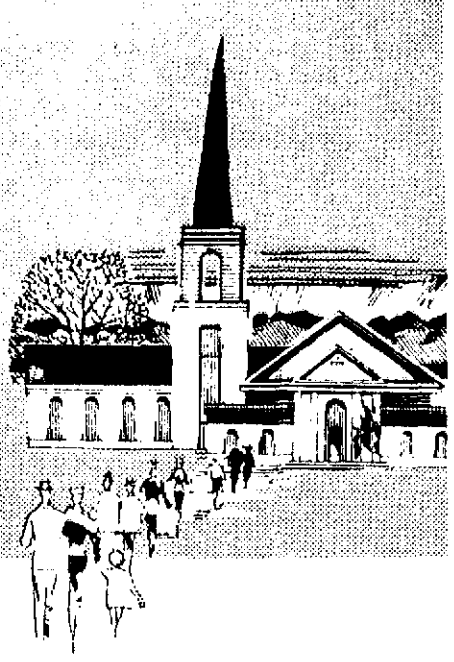

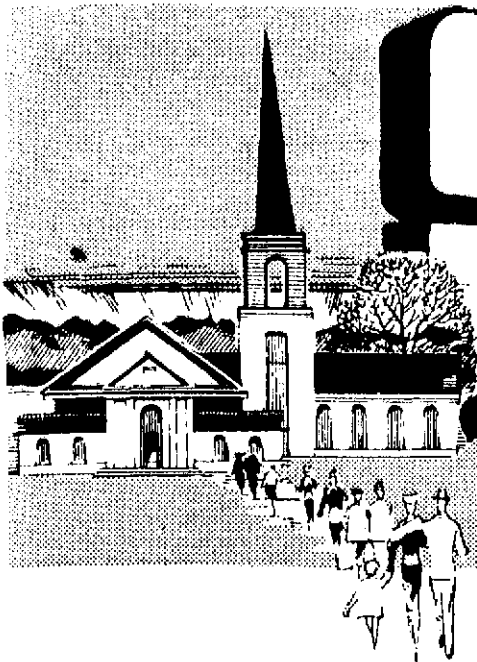

"That means salesmanship," said the Senate investigator.

A spokesman for Lilly said Darvon has been studied a number of times in the decade or so it has been on the market and "has been reported favorably as far as we are concerned. No action has been taken against the product."

Navy Capt. William G. Lawson of the Defense Medical Materiel Board said Darvon is still being purchased because "it is still prescribed by physicians both inside and outside the military Many physicians believe it is an effective analgesic."

reasons
To Be Thankful

Read the 150th Psalm for a clue.

It begins and ends with a call for all men to praise God.

Let everything that hath breath praise the Lord. Perhaps we would do well to follow David in this matter of being Thankful. Our Pilgrim Fathers did. They put God right in the center of every Thanksgiving day. It was the Lord's Day . . . not just another day void of work. Then just what is there about Thanksgiving, about God, that makes me glad? What is it that lifts my face to Heaven when I am sad and when I am glad? Too many times we find the weak, the hungry, the sick and the sad way out in front with their Thanksgiving to God for His fairness, His kindness and His goodwill.

Certainly the Great God goes beyond justice to establish love as the central virtue. He gave up His Son to prove it to us beyond a doubt. He calls on us to be very Thankful for health, if we have it — for wealth, if we own it — and for that friend who can turn us on when our way is dark.

He invites all of us to live like women and men who know very well about God, . . . to be grateful for the few days He gave us which have been full of the trouble He promised. Don't ever let us say a final farewell to dear ones, but let us be Thankful for His promise that we may find them again.

Thank you, Lord, for these reasons and many more. Amen.

Happy Fella After Stake at Hollywood

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) — Owner-driver Stanley Dancer and his 3-year-old sensation, Most Happy Fella, go postward tonight as the probable favorite in the $100,000 American Pacing Classic at Hollywood Park.

The 1 1/4-mile feature drew nine entries but the field was reduced when Sunnie Tar pulled up lame after a workout. Her withdrawal moved Most Happy Fella into the No. 1 starting berth.

Most Happy Fella has won 16 of 25 starts this year, including the Little Brown Jug and $367,248.

The challengers include two previous Jug winners, Laverne Hanover and Rum Customer. Others slated to perform are Judge, Horton Hanover, Frosty Clay, Super Wave and Worthy Medal.

Rockets' Star Apologizes to Ex-coach

EAST LANSING, MICH. (AP) — Denver Rockets basketball star Ralph Simpson apologized to his former college coach Thursday for saying in an interview that he "gained nothing" from his studies while a student at Michigan State University.

In a phone call to MSU basketball coach Gus Ganakas, Simpson said he was prodded into making demeaning comments about his former school in a CBS interview in Miami Tuesday.

In the interview, Simpson said he was advised to take "Mickey Mouse" courses while at State and gained nothing from his work on the MSU campus.

Simpson told Ganakas he was not completely aware of how his remarks would be construed during the interview. He said he figured the interview was set up "to take some of the heat off" the Denver Rockets for signing him to a pro contract while he was still in school.

Ganakas admitted that "we advised Ralph to go slower academically because he was having some trouble in certain academic areas."

Last year Simpson broke every Michigan State single-season scoring record and averaged 29 points a game. With the National Basketball Association Rockets he has averaged 20 points per game. "Is it wrong," Ganakas asked, "to bring Ralph along more slowly and keep him eligible for basketball, or allow him to flunk out and become ineligible?"

ABA Board to Hear Report on TV Plans

By RANDY SCHMID
MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — The commissioners of the American Basketball Association met Thursday to hear progress reports on television plans, attendance and recruiting, but took no formal action.

ABA Commissioner Jack Dolph reported at a news conference after the meeting that attendance for the league is up 33 per cent this year.

Dolph said that this week he approved a dozen new merchandising contracts for the league, including everything from earrings to pennants.

On more controversial topics, however he would only say that the league owners had met to "bring ourselves up to date on television, recruiting, merger status and to make some plans."

As he sees it, Dolph said, merger between the ABA and the National Basketball Association is inevitable. And, he said, he feels there is about a 50 per cent chance of the two leagues operating a common draft this year.

Dolph declined to speculate about the amount of the league's television contract with CBS, noting that no decision has been made on the exact number of games to be played on television. He estimated that there will be about seven televised games, besides the All-Star contest and said agreement has been reached on three of these.

Receives an Award

TOMMY HOLT

Tommy Holt, son of Dr. and Mrs. Forney Holt, has been named first-quarter Joe Amour Service Award winner.

He received a certificate from Principal Bobby Whitmarsh at the Hope High School office Wednesday. Tommy was chosen by a committee of students and faculty members.

A senior, Tommy is student body president and holds memberships in the Future Teachers, Junior Counselors, and the National Honor Society.

Four quarterly awards are given each school year and from these a yearly selection is made.

Holt will probably enroll at University of Arkansas following graduation to prepare for a career in business.

Asian assistance items.

The rest of the request must go through the time consuming procedure of both authorization and appropriation.

Fulbright's Foreign Relations Committee, where the major opposition to the Cambodian assistance is likely to center, agreed Thursday to hold off action until two staff members can visit that country. The two, James Lowenstein and Richard Moose, leave Sunday and will be gone seven to 10 days.

Besides the $155 million—$70 million economic and $85 million military—for Cambodia, the bill includes $65 million for South Vietnam, $100 million to reimburse aid funds for Formosa, Greece and Turkey transferred earlier to Cambodia and $150 million to help South Korea modernize its army as the United States withdraws some 20,000 troops.

Driver Thinks Pollution Plan Has Future

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports writer

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — As one of the nation's fastest race drivers, Mickey Thompson drove cars which emitted their fair share of pollutants.

Yet, he'll argue sincerely, the vehicle he drove at 406 miles per hour on the Bonneville Salt Flats in Utah was the first man and car to top 400 didn't cause the pollution of 10 cars on the Pasadena Freeway during a normal working day.

Now with his own automotive laboratory in Long Beach, this same speed burner works on cutting down pollution and making the air more clean.

"I think the clean air project has a fantastic future," says Thompson, now 41, who nevertheless isn't abandoning his interest in racing. He's designing 1971 funny cars for campaigning in the drag races of next year, and his cars have often been the champions in this facet of the competition.

Mickey has been working with the Ford Motor Company in his racing design and also in his new clean air interest.

"We have found we can design engine components which can develop as much horsepower with non-leaded gasoline and burn more completely," he says. "We're working on improving combustion chamber design, carburetion and ignition to give more efficiency."

"If you burn more of the fuel, you have fewer emissions and much less smog."

Arab Disunity Said Worse Than Ever

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
CAIRO (AP) — The editor of Egypt's semi-official newspaper Al-Ahram said today that Arab disunity is worse than ever as the most critical point in the 22-year-old Middle East conflict approaches.

Editor Mohammed Hussain Heikal, who had been spokesman for the late President Gamal Abdel Nasser, said the disarray is encouraging Israel to delay rejoining peace talks until the last possible moment "to give the Arab process of decay and disintegration a chance to reach its limit."

He said the Arabs have 10 weeks to reverse this trend, get together and adopt "practical and forceful steps, whether political or military," to be implemented when the second Israeli-Egyptian-Jordanian cease-fire expires Feb. 5.

Making no mention of the proposed federation of Egypt, Libya, Sudan and Syria, Heikal wrote: "Jordan, Iraq and Syria are torn apart by internal conflicts; North African Arab nations are engrossed in themselves, and the rest of the Arab countries are content to sit and watch." He also cited the recent abstention of seven Arab nations on a pro-Arab resolution in the U.N. General Assembly.

He also said there are mounting indications that Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Dayan is "making an organized march toward Mrs. Golda Meir's premiership, trying to pose as a man of peace, as the De Gaulle of the Middle East." It was in this vein, he said, that Dayan came out recently in favor of rejoining the peace talks.

Woman Freed in Slaying of Husband

FRESNO, Calif. (AP) — Mrs. Louise Thoresen was acquitted today of murder charges in the death of her millionaire gun collector husband, William Thoresen III.

The eight-man, four-women jury returned their verdict just 11 hours after they got the case from Judge Joseph J. Joy.

The judge convened court at 3:45 a.m. when the jury reached a verdict, and the court clerk read it aloud.

Mrs. Thoresen was joyfully embraced by her parents in the courtroom. The 34-year-old defendant was not set free, however, since she is being held on a New York warrant involving a gun charge.

But Mrs. Thoresen was expected to be released later today. She was found innocent after a 13-day trial.

Mrs. Thoresen's husband, son of a Chicago steel executive, was shot to death in the couple's Fresno home last June 10.

In his summation, Deputy Dist. Atty. Frank Wells showed the jury color photos of the bullet-riddled back of the victim. The holes were close together. Wells commented:

"That, ladies and gentlemen, is known as a good group. To get that kind of group you have to aim, and that takes time."

Kenneth DeVaney, one of Mrs. Thoresen's lawyers, talked to the jury while beating the floor with a riding crop he said Thoresen used to beat his 34-year-old wife. Said DeVaney: "Either Louise Thoresen is guilty of murder in the first degree or she is not guilty. We say she is not guilty."

Thoresen, said DeVaney, "was a madman, a sick man, a depraved man."

The prosecution had argued throughout the trial that Mrs. Thoresen killed her husband for the rest of her husband's estate and the love for another man, and that she ended Thoresen's life while he slept.

The defense contended Thoresen committed repeated attacks on his wife, and toward the end became "like an animal that gives warning before it strikes" and had so warned his wife before he was killed.

Defense lawyer James Shepard told why his client killed her husband:

"She was standing there by the bed with two broken ribs and a punctured ear drum" from a beating administered earlier.

"She could hardly raise her left arm... I don't know what you would have done but I have my own thought in the matter."

said Dayan is promoting a Middle East settlement that calls for withdrawal of heavy artillery from the Suez Canal and reopening of the waterway to international shipping as a prelude to Israel's return to the peace talks. The so-called Dayan Plan says nothing about Arab demands that Israel pull out of the territory occupied in the 1967 war.

President Anwar Sadat told the Egyptian National Assembly Thursday that Egypt would never accept any peace settlement unless it includes total liberation of all territory occupied by Israel.

A U.S. State Department spokesman said in Washington that a call for Israeli withdrawal from virtually all the occupied territory is still part of U.S. policy for a Middle East peace.

In Amman, leaders of the Palestinian guerrillas met Thursday night for the first time with Jordanian Premier Wasfi Tell and said they were satisfied with the results. They scheduled another session Saturday.

When King Hussein named Tell to head a new government Oct. 28, leftist guerrilla groups were strongly opposed because they believed Tell had urged the king to crack down on them in September.

Tell and the guerrillas met after four days of renewed fighting in Amman and other cities between Jordanian forces and the guerrillas.

Three in Tate Case Seek Way to Testify

By LINDA DEUTSCH
Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Charles Manson's three women codefendants in the Sharon Tate murder trial have insisted they want to testify—only to encounter a refusal by their lawyers to question them.

The next move today seemed to be up to the judge.

"I may watch someone commit suicide, but I won't help them," said one attorney after the defense dropped a bombshell Thursday by resting its case without calling a single witness.

Attorney Paul Fitzgerald, leader of the four-lawyer defense team, said the decision was a drastic effort to block testimony by the brunette defendants, all members of Manson's hippie-style clan.

Manson, 36, is on trial with Susan Atkins, 22, Leslie Van Houten, 21, and Patricia Krenwinkel, 22. The state has said Manson held total control over his followers and ordered them to kill Miss Tate and six others in August 1969.

There were reports that the three women, still loyal to Manson, were determined to tell a version of the bloody slayings which would clear Manson of blame while incriminating themselves.

The Los Angeles Times reported today that the three women were prepared to confess from the witness stand. The newspaper said attorneys for the women told the judge in a secret session of their clients' wish to confess.

Manson, who had expressed no desire to take the stand himself, sat silent through Thursday's dramatic events which began with all four attorneys resting their case. The women then arose and insisted on being heard, and the judge ruled they had a constitutional right to testify.

Miss Atkins, modishly attired in a royal blue pants suit, took the stand briefly but was balked when her attorney refused to question her about the case. The two other women's lawyers said they would refuse also.

"We can go to jail for contempt of court or we can be relieved as attorneys in this case," said Fitzgerald after a conference in the judge's chambers. "He's considering both."

Miss Atkins' attorney, Daye Shinn, refused to ask a series of 60 questions which she had prepared, saying, "I feel these questions will incriminate her... I have a duty toward my client. I absolutely refuse to help incriminate a client on the stand."

Superior Court Judge Charles Older several times ordered Shinn to question his client but the lawyer would not budge.

Fitzgerald said that during a conference in the judge's chambers the women suggested that the judge himself, or Manson, be allowed to pose questions, but Older vetoed both suggestions.

Formal End to GM Strike Expected

By STEPHEN H. WILDSTROM
Associated Press Writer

DETROIT (AP) — A formal end to the nine-week-old strike by the United Auto Workers against General Motors Corp. is expected to come today. It may still be nearly another month before the giant corporation is back in full operation.

The UAW's 155 GM bargaining units were to complete voting on ratification of a new contract during the day.

If the pact is approved by separate majorities of skilled and unskilled workers—and all indications are that approval will be overwhelming—the new contract, which the company says will raise average annual wages to between $12,000 and $13,000 in 1973, will go into effect Monday.

One potential roadblock to a resumption of production was cleared Thursday when the International Union of Electrical Workers reached tentative agreement with GM on a new contract similar to the UAW pact.

The IUE represents 32,000 workers at five GM plants and three of those plants produce parts vital to the firm's car-building operations.

IUE members had been working without a contract since Sept. 15, when both the IUE and UAW contracts ran out and the UAW went on strike.

Still barring the road to resumed production, however, were two plants which had not yet negotiated local agreements to supplement the national contract.

One, a Fisher Body plant at Mansfield, Ohio, produces stampings for all GM automotive divisions and the other, a Chevrolet plant in Warren, Mich., makes suspensions for all full size Chevrolets, Pontiacs, Oldsmobiles and Buicks.

stand, Miss Van Houten asked permission to remove her attorney and defend herself. The pretty brunette, in slacks and a sweater, was questioned on legal technicalities by the judge. She answered clearly and, for the most part, accurately.

Her request was turned down. Manson's attorney moved to sever his client's case from the women's, saying, "We're ready to go to the jury now." When the judge denied the motion, the attorney moved for a mistrial, which also was denied.

Fitzgerald said a full defense had been prepared, with 84 witnesses under subpoena.

"What changed our minds was the absolute adurance of the defendants to take the stand," he said.

The state rested its case Monday after calling 84 witnesses and presenting 297 pieces of evidence in 23 weeks.

The Harvesters Choir of Southwestern Assemblies of God College, Waxahachie, Texas, will be presented in sacred concert by the First Assembly of God, 322 North Main on Monday, November 23rd, at 7:00, according to C. C. Truitt, pastor of the church.

The choir, a long leader among the choirs of the southwest, is directed by John D. Haydel.

Justice Dept. Power Fight Over Data Bank

By DONALD M. ROTHBERG
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A proposed computerized federal data bank with a civil libertarian twist has ignited a bureaucratic power struggle among the Justice Department's crime fighters.

The Law Enforcement Assistance Administration is sponsoring Project Search, an experimental program designed to give states a source of up-to-date individual criminal records.

But it is running into opposition from within the FBI, which operates its own National Crime Information Center.

The winner will be determined by Atty. Gen. John Mitchell's decision whether LEAA or the FBI will get the money to operate such a program in the next fiscal year.

The first indication of FBI displeasure came in a letter commenting on recommendations of the Project Search Security and Privacy Committee.

The committee recommended, among other things, that any individual should be able to see what Search's computers say about him.

Jerome J. Daunt of the FBI's information center, wrote to O. J. Hawkins, Project Search chairman, that the privacy committee report "has been reviewed and has been found to be very objectionable."

In 16 numbered paragraphs, Daunt outlined the bureau's objections to the report. Many centered on the committee's concern with individual privacy and what it thought should or shouldn't be included in such a data bank.

Write Daunt: "Rights' to individual privacy should be considered always in the context of their reasonableness. There can be no absolute right to individual privacy in a society. The project group should be concerned only with what the courts have said up to this point, not what some committee members would expect them to say in the future."

As for letting individuals see what their Search file contains, Daunt said, "It is very questionable as to whether Project Search has the authority to suggest that a citizen has the right to inspect and challenge the

Arguments in Mitchell Case Due Today

By ROBERT HEARD
Associated Press Writer

FT. HOOD, Tex. (AP) — Final arguments in the first court-martial of an American soldier accused in the alleged My Lai massacre are due today.

Col. George R. Robinson, military judge, told the seven officers on the jury Thursday he would instruct them on the law after the arguments and that they probably would begin deliberating on the guilt or innocence of S. Sgt. David Mitchell by midafternoon.

The defense completed its case Thursday with the tearful testimony of the defendant, who said he neither shot at anybody nor saw anybody else shoot at Vietnamese civilians on March 16, 1968, the day his company swept through My Lai.

The defense called 21 witnesses in 2 1/2 days, several of whom said they witnessed shooting at a drainage ditch outside My Lai but that they did not see Mitchell shoot.

The Army charges Mitchell, 30, of St. Francisville, La., with assault with intent to murder. It accuses the 10-year veteran of firing his M16 rifle at 30 unarmed men, women and children who had been pushed into the ditch.

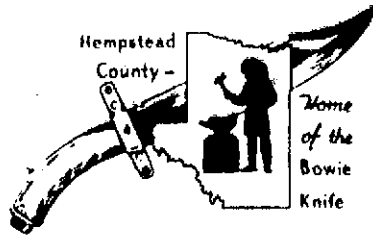

The Army rested its case Oct. 20 after calling three witnesses, two of whom said they saw Mitchell fire into the ditch. The other witness said he saw Mitchell standing beside the ditch with his rifle to his shoulder and pointed down into the ditch but said he could not swear he saw the sergeant fire.

None of the three said he saw any bullets from Mitchell's rifle hit anybody.

Bumpers to Halt Empire Building

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov.-elect Dale Bumpers says he will attempt to halt "empire building" by state departments by asking the 1971 legislature to consolidate some agencies and eliminate others.

Bumpers told the Arkansas Legislative Council Thursday that "perhaps a great deal" could be done to merge, reorganize and eliminate agencies to streamline government and make "substantial savings."

"I honestly feel that one of the mandates of my election is that we stop empire building in state government," Bumpers said in his first appearance before the council.

"I think this has been ... too long a practice by some agencies and some departments," he said. "In order to stop some of it, it's going to take some hard decisions, some of which will be politically unpopular."

He said he had already found "one or two" agencies that could be eliminated and others that he did not want to identify them at this time. Some agencies are duplicating services and others are providing services the state does not need, Bumpers said.

Some members of the council applauded his remarks about "empire building."

Bumpers said his approach to state problems would be one of "quiet realism." He said his recommendations to the General Assembly would not "come off the top of my head," but would be made only after careful study. He said that when he makes a recommendation he wants to be sure "it is meaningful."

"I do not want to make unwise decisions," he said. "I want to have the most productive, meaningful session in the history of the state."

He said this would depend in large measure on how well he does his own homework.

Bumpers told the legislators he was not saying he would not ask for new tax legislation, but said he could not request tax action unless economies were made in state operations.

Bumpers said he had found areas in which the state can save "substantial amounts" of money. He said he had asked Dr. Max Milam, director of the state Administration Department, to review state agency budget requests and give him a projection of what Milam thinks is an amount of money necessary for each agency to provide a continuing level of services. Bumpers also said he had asked Milam to recommend what he thinks each department should receive in state monies in the biennium beginning July 1.

Tornadoes Dip in Areas of Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Tornado funnels dipped down in several areas of Arkansas Thursday, damaging houses and other structures and injuring several persons.

The hardest hit area was west of Marianna where State Police said a storm stayed on the ground for six to eight miles, cutting a path 1½ miles wide. Twenty-seven persons were treated at a Marianna hospital and released. James Shell, 13, was transferred to a Memphis hospital with a possible head injury.

Officers said the storm destroyed 10 houses and heavily damaged three others. Those released from the hospital were being fed and housed at the First Baptist Church in Marianna.

Authorities said the storm touched down near Moro and then moved northeast, crossing Arkansas 121 south of Oak Forest.

The band of thunderstorms that spawned the tornadoes moved eastward across the state from the northwest.

Funnel clouds were reported on the ground at various times Thursday near Siloam Springs in Benton County, four miles northeast of Lincoln in Washington County, near Cornerstone in Jefferson County, near Red Hill in Arkansas County and in the Moro-Oak Forest area.

Twisters were also reportedly sighted in the air near the Rowe community in Monroe County, near White Hall in Jefferson County, about three miles southwest of Conway in Faulkner County and south of Forrest City.

State Police said two houses were destroyed in the storm at Cornerstone. Authorities also reported damage to four other houses, two stores and three cars. One injury was reported, but it was not serious.

Three metal power line poles, supporting a 230,000 volt transmission line, buckled under high winds near Red Hill. Arkansas Power & Light Co. officials were estimating damage at more than $50,000. Two houses in the area were damaged and one house trailer overturned.

Activist Actress Jane Fonda Contradicts Own Philosophy in UA Talk

By JOHN R. STARR

Associated Press Writer

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Jane Fonda, the activist actress, brought her crusade for minority rights to the University of Arkansas Thursday night but she contradicted her own philosophy when the talk turned to the Reserve Officers Training Corps (ROTC).

If a majority of students on a campus do not want ROTC, Miss Fonda told an audience of about 2,800 at Symposium '70, then the rights of a minority which might want to enroll in ROTC should be denied and ROTC should not be permitted on the campus. Pro-ROTC students, she said, could "go somewhere else."

Until that point, Miss Fonda had been four-square for the rights of minorities, even to the extent of suggesting that residents of neighborhoods should be permitted to elect their policemen.

Miss Fonda also got into a contradiction on economics when, after urging that the country move toward socialism, she admitted that she recently increased her asking price from $100,000 to $300,000 per picture and declared, "As long as I work in Hollywood I

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Legislative auditors said today that Arkansas AM&N College at Pine Bluff had an operating deficit of more than a half million dollars during the last two fiscal years.

The deficit amounted to $137,416.98 in the fiscal year ended June 30, 1969, and an additional $367,844.64 in the fiscal year ended last June 30, a combined total of $505,261.62.

The figures were reported by Legislative Auditor Orvel M. Johnson in the final audit report on the predominantly Negro college, which also is expected to finish the current fiscal year with a deficit.

Dr. Max Milam, director of the state Administration Department, has projected a deficit of about $250,000 for the college in the current fiscal year. Johnson's report was delivered to the Legislative Joint

U.S. Reports Loss of Two Choppers

By GEORGE ESPER

Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command today announced the loss of two more helicopters, raising the toll in the past two days to three with a total of 19 Americans killed and no survivors.

Headquarters said 7,349 U.S. helicopters and planes have been lost in the Indochina war since Jan. 1, 1961. It said 6,000 Americans died in them.

Four American crewmen were killed in the crashes Thursday of two Army OH6 bubble-top observation helicopters. One was shot down on the coastal plain 286 miles northeast of Saigon and the other in the northwest part of the country 11 miles from Laos.

On Wednesday, a Marine Corps CH46 that was bringing a reconnaissance team back to Da Nang crashed into the side of a mountain in a heavy fog, and all 15 Marines aboard were killed.

Farm Bill Sets Limit on Subsidies

By MIKE SHANAHAN

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has on his desk today a favored $3.5 billion farm bill which sets for the first time a limit on the subsidies paid major growers for not producing.

The measure passed the Senate 48 to 35 Thursday after a lengthy and stormy fight in which opponents said the bill would cost farmers billions of dollars in income.

The bill, which lays down federal policy on farm subsidy and farm support programs over the next three years, won praise from Agriculture Secretary Clifford M. Hardin.

"It will give farmers an opportunity to take greater advantage of shifts in market demands from commodity to commodity by moving away from fixed crop acreages toward greater leeway in crop plantings," he said.

The bill limits subsidies to $55,000 on each crop of wheat, cotton, corn and other feed grain lands held from production. Senate opponents sought a $20,000 limit. There was no limit under past laws.

During the House-Senate conference meetings House members refused to budge from administration-backed provisions of the measure. Three senators walked out of the session and refused to sign the conference report, among them Sen. Stuart Symington.

The Missouri Democrat Thursday ridiculed the conference-reported bill as "both unfair and inadequate and ... a bill which is certain to lower farm income."

"Farmers especially resent these incredible efforts by Secretary of Agriculture Hardin to junk the parity concept in connection with price supports and loans," he said.

Symington was disturbed over House conference members' refusal to go along with Senate language setting price supports for corn at $1.35 per bushel or 75 per cent of parity—whichever was higher.

Instead, the conference dropped the figure to 70 per cent for two years and gave the secretary the authority to lower it to 68 per cent in 1973.

Southern opponents, including Sen. Allen Ellender, D-La., predicted disaster for cotton farmers. He said the bill would encourage overproduction and an eventual order from the Agriculture Department to drastically reduce the amount of acreage in production.

Arkansas on Hot Line Bugging List

WASHINGTON (AP) — The telephone company has found Civil Defense telephones which could have been bugged in six governors' offices and is still checking nine others.

The American Telephone and Telegraph Co. said Thursday the incorrectly-wired phones were discovered in governors' offices in Delaware, Maryland, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Utah and Arkansas.

It was in Maryland that Gov. Marvin Mandel disclosed earlier this week that conversations in his office could be overheard if nearby lines were tapped.

The phones, which connect the offices to different terminals including the North American Defense Command in Colorado, don't have to be in use for conversations to be overheard, AT&T said.

Mandel's complaint touched off checks in all of the 48 states where the phones have been installed for use in emergencies. Nine more states have yet to be checked, AT&T said, adding the incorrect wiring is being removed wherever found.

So far, no one has claimed any specific instances where anyone listened in on the governors' conversations.

Storm Death Count Now at 148,116

By ARNOLD ZEITLIN

Associated Press Writer

DACCA, East Pakistan (AP) — More helicopters were en route to East Pakistan today as the official death count from last week's storm in the Ganges delta rose to 148,116. Local newspapers predicted the final toll would reach half a million.

Two British navy ships, the amphibious cruiser Intrepid and the converted aircraft carrier Triumph, were on their way from Singapore with rescue teams and supplies aboard. The Intrepid carried five helicopters and eight landing craft while the Triumph carried three choppers.

The helicopters will augment six U.S. and two British helicopters already dispatched to bolster East Pakistan's relief force of one C130 cargo plane, one helicopter, one short-takeoff-and-landing plane and one seaplane.

Helicopters are the only means of getting aid to many of the stricken coastal regions and offshore islands devastated last Friday by a cyclone and huge tidal waves. No landing strips are available for fixed-wing planes, and many of the estimated two million survivors are surrounded by so much water that air drops would be difficult.

India, Pakistan's traditional antagonist, announced Thursday that it would grant immediate clearance to Pakistani military aircraft carrying relief supplies from West Pakistan to East Pakistan. Getting clearance to fly over the 1,000 miles of Indian territory between the two parts of Pakistan ordinarily takes days.

U.S. Ambassador Joseph Farland flew from Rawalpindi to Dacca Thursday and said he would be a "personal representative of President Nixon to assist the East Pakistan government in very way feasible."

Nixon has authorized a grant of $10 million to provide food and other relief to the storm victims.

Weathermen from seven countries in the Asian typhoon belt met in Bangkok today and appealed to the U.N. General Assembly's members to devote funds, manpower and scientific resources to seek ways to control typhoons, hurricanes and cyclones or to minimize their effects. The three terms apply to the same kind of sea-spawned storm, typhoon being used in the Pacific and along the east coast of Asia, cyclone in the Bay of Bengal area and hurricane in the Atlantic, Caribbean and Gulf of Mexico.

The executive secretary of the U.N. Economic Commission for Asia and the Far East also called for the formation of standby regional disaster relief units, including a pool of helicopters and rescue crews. He said they should be based in the Philippines and Pakistan.

Trade Bill Against Foreign Goods to Hit Trouble in Senate

By JIM ADAMS

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A quota-setting trade bill that would throw up Congress's most formidable new barriers against foreign goods since 1930 has passed the House, but Senate approval is in doubt.

Opponents said the controversial bill to limit textile and shoe imports would touch off a world trade war. Backers said it would protect threatened U.S. industries and jobs.

It passed the House 215 to 165 Thursday night with trade lobbyists filling the galleries.

Nixon administration efforts to cut the bill back to the President's request for textile quotas only—plus a tax incentive to boost U.S. exports—didn't even come to a vote.

But administration supporters said Nixon will make no decision on whether to veto the bill until he sees how it comes out of Congress.

Consumer Bill Passage Is Pushed

By H. L. SCHWARTZ III

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democrats pushing passage of a major consumer bill the White House opposes say they will hang the words of President Nixon's consumer adviser "right around the administration's neck."

A chief Democratic strategist referred Thursday to statements of Virginia H. Knauer who once gave a "wholehearted" support to the so-called consumer class action measure.

But he denied that Democrats are pushing the bill for purely political reasons even though prospects for House approval in the dwindling days of the 91st Congress are uncertain.

Although Mrs. Knauer once supported the measure, administration forces are readying an all-out effort to weaken it if they can't prevent it from coming to the floor altogether.

The bill provides the Federal Trade Commission with broad new powers to battle fraudulent practices.

It also permits defrauded consumers who suffered as little as a $10 loss to band together and bring class action suits to recover.

China Wins Support But Not Enough

By TOM HOGE

Associated Press Writer

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Red China won majority support today for admission to the United Nations, but failed to win the two-thirds support required.

The vote was 51 in favor, 49 against and 25 abstentions.

It was the first time that the General Assembly had given a majority to the Peking government in 20 years of voting. The assembly had voted earlier in favor of a U.S.-backed resolution declaring that this was an "important question" requiring a two-thirds majority.

The pro-Peking resolution received 51 per cent of those present and voting.

Many diplomats saw in the Peking gains the beginning of a trend which could win a seat for the Communist government by 1971 or 1972.

The key to the assembly's vote was the continued coupling of Peking's bid with a demand for the expulsion of the Chinese Nationalists. During the debate a substantial majority favored Red China's seating, but not at the cost of expelling the Nationalist government.

The United States was among those shifting emphasis to the expulsion issue rather than the attacks on Red China and its qualifications for a seat in the world organization.

The vote on the "important question" resolution was 66 in favor, 52 against and 7 abstaining. Some delegates expressed doubts about supporting this idea in the future. . . . Peking should attain a majority.

Three abstainers in 1969, Canada, Italy and Equatorial Guinea, have established diplomatic relations with Peking this year. Chile, which also abstained last year, switched to support of Peking's candidacy after the election of a Marxist president recently.

On the other hand, the Chinese Communists lost Cambodia's support because they gave refuge to the ousted Cambodian chief of state, Prince Norodom Sihanouk, and allowed him to set up a government in exile in Peking. And Mauritius, which voted for Peking in 1969, announced this week that it would vote no this year. Ambassador Radha Krishna Ramphul told the assembly that his government still favored Peking but not to the extent of ousting the Chinese Nationalists, which the resolution introduced by Peking's backers called for.

The Soviet Union kept out of the debate in 1969, but the recent improvement in relations between the two Communist giants was illustrated Thursday when Soviet delegate Jacob Malik demanded the immediate seating of Peking. He told the assembly that to bar the Red Chinese regime any longer would undermine the principle of universality "which is the basis of the U.N.'s efforts to defend peace and security."

$3.5 Billion Farm Bill Breakdown

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here are the highlights of the $3.5 billion farm bill passed by the Senate Thursday. The bill:

—Sets the shape of the nation's agriculture policy for the next three years.

—Establishes for the first time a $55,000 limit on the amount of money feed grain, wheat and cotton farmers can receive for not producing.

—Sets price supports for corn at 70 per cent of parity for the first two years of the bill with authority to the Secretary of Agriculture to cut it to 68 per cent in 1973.

—Reduces from 16.3 million to 11.3 million acres the amount of allowable cotton acreage.

—Extends the Food for Peace program, sending surplus crops to underdeveloped countries.
